WHEEL MEET AGAIN

Three car enthusiasts from Medway are gearing up for a mammoth three-day drive across Europe, raising money for Demelza children's hospice.

The trio will start in France on Friday, September 4, finishing 1,500 miles later in the Czech Republic. On their way they will pass alpine mountains and lakes, the magical Neuschwanstein in southern Germany - which provided the inspiration for Walt Disney's fantasy Disneyland castle - and Top Gear's 'world's best driving road' in Italy.

A ROADS resurfacing row has broken out after Labour leaders in Medway accused Tory council chiefs of spending most of its cash in Conservative wards.

The argument centres on an eight-page document detailing the pothole-ridden roads set to be repaired by mid 2011.

The list shows that four Conservative wards - Peninsula, Strood Rural, Lordwood and Capstone and Rainham North - will see the most work, with 20 roads in the Peninsula ward set for resurfacing.

Gillingham South and Rochester East, held by Liberal Democrat and Labour councillors, respectively, will see just three improvements between them.

Labour figures shows the average spend on planned roadworks in Conservative wards is £545,000 - more than double that of the £230,500 to be used in Labour's three wards and significantly higher than the £126,000 earmarked for Lib Dem wards.

Labour leader Cllr Paul Godwin said the disparity could not be coincidental and was the main reason he had called a meeting, due to take place tomorrow (Thursday) to discuss the council's allocation of funds.

He said: "When we saw the original proposals the difference between money spent in Conservative wards over the others stuck out like a sore thumb. Tory councillors will say it

We're lucky to be living in a Lotto hotspot

■ BY RACHEL MCATHY

LUCKY Medway has retained its title as the nation's number one Lottery winner hotspot.

Lotto bosses have revealed that gamblers with the ME postcode are once again the most likely players in the country to scoop a top prize.

Statistics show there is a big winning ticket in every 5,717 Medway players. And with odds like that, would-be millionaires from across the country could sell up and move to the area in search of their fortune.

Winners from the ME postcode area include Dave Bancroft, one of a dozen syndicate members at Sheerness Co-op Sports and Social Club. Together they won £868,458 in 2005.

The Lotto winner was pleased to hear he was in the right place for another win.

"It's great Medway is top, quite incredible really," he said. "We still do the Lottery, but haven't had any luck since. I used the money to do house improvements, go on a few nice holidays and paid off my debts."

"It helped everyone out and made a difference."

Tony Stubbley, from Chatham, was another winner from Medway, who scooped a £2,213,141 Lotto jackpot playing online in August 2004.

Dartford also appeared in the top ten hotspots list, coming eighth, although it experienced a dip on last year's fifth place.

Just last month, the town's Newton family scooped nearly £8 million on a Rollover.

Since then the local Costcutter store, where the family picked up their winning ticket, has been inundated with the numbers.

NUMBERS UP: The ME postcode area has topped the Lottery winners' table again dated with customers hoping the luck will rub off on them. The national results were determined by looking at Lottery windfalls since 1994.

A National Lottery official said: "The South East has fought off challengers to the top three places, but with a surge in Sunderland and Perth's luck, that could all change next year."

Total prize money for the luckiest top ten postcodes since 1994 has now passed the £1 billion mark.

The statistics are based on the postcode areas which have the most top prize-winning entries as a proportion of its adult player population.

But it is not just the town you live in which could give you some luck with the numbers.

The National Lottery also suggests taking a look at the number on your front door, as the number three tops the tables as the luckiest door number for Lottery wins.

Residents living at this number have won more than £77 million since the Lottery launched in November 1994.

But close neighbours are not far behind, with the second luckiest door being number two.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Art offers an escape for talented jailbirds

ARTWORK by teenage jailbirds is on display at Medway Council's headquarters.

Two paintings by Cookham Wood young offenders' institute inmates were unveiled by children's services boss Cllr Les Wicks last week.

Their work will be replaced by other inmates' art on a rota basis.

Rudi Vizi, who teaches art at the Rochester prison, said: "We are encouraging young people to exhibit their work in a public space just as any other artist would do."

"They should be proud of the quality paintings they have produced and we hope this public demonstration of their work will motivate them to do more or simply give them a sense of pride in their achievement."

Buses join the fleet

BUS operator Arriva will launch a fleet of 16 single-decker buses in Medway this week. The buses – costing £1.85 million – will be deployed on the 132 and 182 services.

Arriva manager Richard Lewis said: "Like all new Arriva buses, these are fully accessible and have the latest engine technology to help reduce pollution even further."

"All Arriva buses in Medway are fitted with digital CCTV to give an added feeling of safety and security."

The buses will go into service tomorrow (Thursday).

All the fun of the fair

CHILDREN'S favourites Bart Simpson and Noddy will mingle with the crowds at a Gillingham fun fair this weekend.

The TV characters will take in the Worldwide Travelling Theme Park Experience on Sunday and Monday.

Bart will step out at The Strand on Sunday afternoon, with Noddy appearing at various times the following day.

The rides include The Predator – a giant spider-type ride, and Project One, which takes riders 100ft up and through 360 degrees.

These are joined by traditional favourites such as the dodgems plus many children's rides.

Rally 'outlaws' make break for the border

■ BY SIMON ROBINSON

THREE Medway petrolheads are taking part in a three-day 1,500 mile charity rally across Europe.

Friends Ricky Hall, Andy Smith and Faz Spice will drive from France to the Czech Republic – passing through Switzerland, Italy, Austria and Germany. The trio and 74 other teams will begin the gruelling Mission: Impossible-themed Crumball Rally on Friday, September 4.

Along the way they will be set secret agent-style tasks in their custom US state trooper patrol car. The tricky route could also prove problematic for their £100 banger as it includes Top Gear's 'world's best driving road' – the legendary Stelvio Pass in Italy, the highest paved mountain pass in the Eastern Alps.

Despite the challenges ahead, Andy, from Rainham, was keen to get started.

"I can't wait for the Crumball Rally to begin. It's something that we've been planning since March and it's going to be fun," he said.

"Hopefully we can raise a lot of money for Demelza children's hospice. We set ourselves a target of £750, but we'd like to double that."

The only rule of the rally is that entrants' cars must cost no more than £200.

The Medway Crumball team's Nissan QX cost half that amount, but Andy said he was confident it was up to the 3,000-mile round trip.

He said: "I bought the Nissan for £100 and only intended to use it as a runaround."

"It's in good condition though. We've had it

modified into a US-style patrol car and we'll be dressing as prison escapees.

"It looks great. My brother-in-law works for Kent Fire and Rescue Service and loaned us the roof light. We got the boiler suits from a joke shop."

Andy said the route had a number of highlights: "My homeland is Switzerland and we will be passing through on the Saturday."

"I know the country well from car shows and visiting my uncle, so I'm looking forward to that. I've also never been to Prague, where the rally ends, so that'll be good. But the most exciting part of the rally will be the Stelvio Pass, it's a road I've dreamed about.

"I'm gutted I'll be driving it in a £100 saloon car and not my modified rally car."

Andy owns a Nissan Pulsar GTI R, which he has spent £9,500 on modifying.

It boasts a gold-plated engine and has won the best interior in Britain award.

His previous car, an orange Nissan Almera GTI, also held that award in 2005. The prize-winning vehicle – which had £35,000 of modifications – included Lamborghini doors and a chrome petrol mini-moto in the boot.

MP Bob raises coal concerns with minister

MAVERICK MP Bob Marshall-Andrews was due to take anti-coal campaigners' concerns to the very top yesterday by handing a petition to Climate Minister Ed Miliband.

The Labour MP, who represents Rochester and Strood, supported the petition – signed by more than 1,600 residents – which calls for E.ON's plans to build two new coal-fired units at the Kingsnorth power plant to be axed.

Mr Marshall-Andrews QC, pictured right, said: "Not only would the dirty new Kingsnorth coal make it virtually impossible for the UK to reach its carbon emissions reductions targets, it would leave us in a very weak position when it comes to influencing the hugely important climate change talks in Copenhagen in December."

"I am pleased so many local residents feel so strongly about this issue which, although of global importance, involves a decision that is taking place on our very doorstep."

"It is right that so many people are speaking out about this crucial issue."

"The UK needs to be investing for the long run, and that means creating low-carbon, sustainable jobs and not pushing ahead with dirty and polluting unabated coal power."

Ward 'bias' row over roadworks has nothing to do with politics, that the officers have carried out their evaluations and it's just happened to work out like this.

"But the figures speak for themselves. It's so apparent, as the difference in the numbers between Conservative and Labour figures is not even marginal. It's an unbelievable disparity. Saying the roads in Conservative wards are worse than those in Labour areas, which are largely urban, beggars belief."

"There's far too much secrecy, so I intend to question the mechanism for making such decisions and call for more transparency."

But Conservative deputy leader Cllr Alan Jarrett responded: "It's cynical to suggest Medway Council operates anything but an objective programme of road surfacing."

"Decisions are taken according to an assessment of road condition and usage determined by an engineer, not on which political party represents the ward."

"It isn't surprising that wards in rural areas, which have long country roads, will have a greater proportion of investment than compact, urban wards."

The top three wards in terms of investment are all Conservative, while the bottom three are either Lib Dem, Labour, or shared between Labour and the Tories.

Ombudsman ruling over sports pitch to cost thousands

COUNCIL bosses have agreed to pay thousands of pounds in compensation to Medway residents after botching a planning application.

Seven residents complained to the Local Government Ombudsman after an all-weather sports pitch was built on land overlooking their gardens.

They were concerned the development would lead to loss of privacy and outlook, and constant noise from youngsters on the sports pitch.

The Ombudsman's report found the council guilty of "maladministration causing injustice".

LGO Tony Redmond wrote: "The council was at fault over its handling of the planning application for the sports pitch, as it failed to take into account the relationship between the complainants' homes and the sports pitch, and the potential for overlooking and loss of privacy in their gardens from a viewing area running the full length of the sports pitch."

He suggested the council pay the lead complainant £250 for the time and trouble involved in pursuing the complaints on behalf of the other complainants. Each resident should also be reimbursed for the "reasonable costs" associated with increasing the heights of their boundaries.

This could run into thousands of pounds of taxpayers' money.

A Medway Council official said the authority had agreed to the suggested payments.

"The council deals with many thousands of planning and building control applications every year and the vast majority are dealt with without any problems," she said.

"In this rare case the council could have handled the situation differently and apologises to the residents adversely affected by the sports pitch being built by the school."

Neither the LGO nor Medway Council would reveal the name of the school, saying its identification would lead to the identities of the complainants. This paper has decided not to reveal the name of the school.

Funnyman Justin to sign latest book

COMEDIAN and TV presenter Justin Lee Collins will sign copies of his autobiography at Bluewater next month.

The Bristol-born funnyman will appear at the shopping centre's Waterstone's store on Tuesday, September 22, signing Good Times from 6pm.

Bookseller Robbie Dymott said: "Justin Lee Collins is a really funny, unmistakable and unique character who you can't help but like."

"His new book is fascinating and hilariously funny – a real must-read by a truly of-the-moment star. Don't miss out on your chance to meet Justin and get a copy personally signed by him."

Business breakfast

COUNCIL leaders will talk about the current state of Medway's regeneration projects during a free business breakfast.

The Medway Means Business event will be attended by council leader Rodney Chambers, regeneration boss Robin Cooper and economic growth chief Jane Chitty.

The breakfast will be at the Innovation Centre, Maidstone Road, Chatham, on Thursday, September 8, with refreshments served at 7.45am. To book, email business.support@medway.gov.uk. For more information call Wayne Saunders on 01634 338138.

Bike safety courses

CYCLISTS are being encouraged to sign up for a Bikeability course.

In the past year, Medway Council's cycling instructors has trained and assessed more than 1,600 pupils.

The team is now looking to reach more cyclists, young and old.

A spokesman said: "Bikeability is the cycling proficiency test for the 21st century, designed to assess the next generation's skills and provide confidence to ride on today's roads."

Visit www.bikeability.org.uk for details.

Arts and crafts fair

A WIDE range of arts and crafts goods will be on sale at Hempstead Valley this weekend at the shopping centre's monthly fair.

More than 30 stalls will pitch up inside the centre from 10am to 4pm on Sunday, selling quality arts, crafts and collectable memorabilia.

Centre manager Mark Rumfitt said: "The monthly fair has been very successful for specialist craft exhibitors showcasing their quality, handcrafted goods."

Gambling addict swindled thousands at charity nights

■ BY SIMON ROBINSON

A GAMBLING addict who held charity race nights across Medway and the South East has been given a suspended sentence after pocketing more than £8,000 of the proceeds.

Gary Ferris, 38, staged fundraising events in pubs and clubs in Chatham and Rochester, throughout Kent and venues in Essex, Norfolk and Surrey.

The conman told race-goers their money would be donated to the Hopes and Dreams charity – which raises cash for terminally ill children and young adults to send them on holidays and trips.

His scam was uncovered when publicans who had offered their premises for the nights contacted the Essex-based charity in February of last year, saying they had not received official certificates confirming how much money had been raised. Kent Police's serious economic crime unit launched a 13-month investigation into Ferris' race nights.

The team identified 15 locations across the region where Ferris' Funtime Racetime events had been held – raising £8,180 for the charity.

None of this money was passed on. Officers arrested Ferris, from Ashford, in August 2008.

The fraudster admitted being an online gambling addict during interviews and revealed he had lost tens of thousands of pounds as well as his house and his car.

He pleaded guilty to 15 counts of fraud at Canterbury Crown Court and was given a six-month prison sentence, suspended for two years, and 180 hours' community service.

Detective Inspector Mark Fairhurst said: "While many people raise funds for good causes legitimately, Ferris used money he had raised for charity to fund his gambling habits."

"He took advantage of people wanting to donate money to help ill children and in doing so undermined the reputation of the Hopes and Dreams charity."

"His actions have caused distress to those who offered their premises in good faith and attended the events."

"Kent Police advises publicans and those hosting events to check with the charity to make sure it is genuine."

Proceedings are continuing with regard to confiscation of property, to be heard at a later date.

Ferris began his race nights in July 2007, holding several events each week.

The exact amount of how much he swindled during this time is not known.

ALL HAIL WEEKEND OF REAL ALE

A wide range of Kentish beers will be on offer during a Bank Holiday weekend real ale festival. The three-day event will be held in the relaxed surrounds of the Coopers Arms, St Margaret's Street, Rochester, from Friday until Monday.

The beers have all been sourced from across the county and include the tastiest tipples from Gads of Ramsgate, Coachers of Maidstone, Nelson of Chatham, Shepherd Neame of Faversham, Larkins of Chiddingstone, and the Westerham Brewery.

Biddenden Cider will also be available for those who prefer Kent apples to hops. This weekend's outdoor real ale festival follows a similar event earlier this year.

Landlady Laura Boulton said: "The festival we held in June was very popular and a great success."

"Real ales are very much part of the nation's love affair with the pub and it is good to see breweries specialising in real ales are continuing to thrive."

The festival runs from 6pm on Friday to 9pm on Monday. A barbecue with a choice of steaks, ribs, chicken and burgers will be available in the garden from 7pm each day.

HAVEN OF TRANQUILLITY: The garden area at Medway Maritime Hospital's dedicated cancer care unit

Cancer experts' delight at £4m hospital centre

A SPECIALIST cancer care unit is to open in Gillingham next week.

The first patients will be treated at the new dedicated unit, based at Medway Maritime Hospital, from Tuesday.

Yourmedway was given an exclusive guided preview of the £4 million unit last week.

Medway NHS Foundation Trust's building project manager Brian Edwards, who led the tour, said he was delighted with the results.

He said: "Inspired by staff, patient representatives and carers, and working in partnership with Macmillan's cancer environments team, the building work has taken 12 months to complete and we couldn't be more pleased with the outcome."

The unit boasts two main areas: an inpatient ward with 19 beds; and an independent day centre.

The unit also houses spacious single bedrooms and wards, treatment rooms, a meeting room equipped with TV conference call facilities, a day room, quiet room and central garden.

Each aspect of the unit's design has been scrutinised to ensure patients receive the very best care and support; from the size and layout of the inpatient ward to the easy-to-clean surfaces.

Macmillan Cancer Support's regional director, Stephen Richards, said: "The unit will provide care and treatment for 19 inpatients and has 13 chemotherapy chairs in the day centre area."

"Patients and staff stressed the importance of giving the unit a non-clinical feel – a theme which has been carried throughout the unit to provide a home-from-home feeling."

"The unit has been designed to provide patients with treatment and care in the best possible environment, but those affected by cancer – such as relatives and friends – should not be forgotten."

"A relaxing garden provides a focal point and a tranquil place for people living with cancer to spend quality time with their loved ones. None of this could have been possible without the hard work, commitment and generosity of many, many people who have supported the fundraising appeal.

"Thank you for all your efforts and we hope you are proud of what you have helped achieve for the people of Medway."

The inpatient area, Lawrence ward, will be supported by three consultant haematologists, 16 trained nurses, seven clinical support workers and one ward clerk.

The Galton day centre will have three consultant oncologists, eight trained nurses and four clinical support supporters.

The Macmillan positive living team – which consists of a specialist occupational therapist, physiotherapist, therapy assistant, senior social worker and dietitian – will provide holistic support for patients treated at the unit.

Lifesaver Trevor's award

FIREFIGHTER Trevor Dock will be honoured for saving the life of an injured motorist who had stopped breathing.

The emergency worker was called into action this month when Kent Fire and Rescue Service received notice of a crash involving two vehicles which has resulted in multiple casualties.

One man had gone into cardiac arrest and paramedics, who were also on the scene, began chest compressions.

Mr Dock, who is trained in CPR, took over from the paramedic who had become exhausted. He succeeded in reviving the man, who was later taken to hospital.

A spokesman said: "Trevor's actions were highly professional in an extremely difficult situation and thanks to his efforts the casualty was able to make a full recovery."

The Medway firefighter will receive a certificate at an awards ceremony on Tuesday.

Fun at Bank Holiday fete

A TRADITIONAL village fete will take place in Cobham on Bank Holiday Monday.

The annual event features fun for all the family. A spokesman said: "We have many stalls, books, tea and cakes, welly wanging, bingo, a crockery smash, lots of competitions, bowling, barbecue, bouncy castle, ice cream, raffles and much more."

The fete will be on the playing fields behind The Street from 1pm to 5pm.

Admission and parking are free. For more information, call 01474 813571.

Having a say on policing

CURBING antisocial behaviour should be the biggest policing priority, according to Chatham shoppers.

More than 150 shoppers had their say at the Pentagon centre, placing a ball in one of five tubes to indicate which issue they felt was the most important.

'Having antisocial behaviour under control' came out on top, followed by 'Police can be relied on to attend an incident' and 'Regular contact with neighbourhood officer or PCSO'.

The survey was carried out as part of Kent Police's improving confidence tour, which will visit town centres across the county in the next six weeks.

BIATHELETES: The girls and boys teams from Medway

Youngsters give their all at national sporting contest

A TALENTED squad of young Medway athletes competed against the best aspiring Olympians during an invitational schools biathlon.

The 33-man team – selected during primary and secondary schools trials – held their own in the track and pool events despite facing more experienced biathletes from across the country. Miers Court Primary School's Shannon Elvie put in the stand-out performance, finishing fifth out of 22 girls in the year five competition.

The two-event competition took place at the Crystal Palace National Sports Centre in London and was held as part of the Modern Pentathlon World Championships.

Medway Council's sports development officer John Hatchett said: "It was a fantastic experience for our team to compete at this level and to rub shoulders with Olympic champions.

"They were great ambassadors for Medway and they should be proud of the performances that they put in."

The best pentathletes from across the globe will descend on Gillingham in April 2010 to compete in the World Cup at Medway Park.

QUESTION & ANSWER

DEAN HARDING

Q Tell us about yourself.

A I am 38 years old, have lived in Gillingham all my life and am currently living in Parkwood. I have been married for nine years and have a daughter of six who is just becoming a Beaver and two step-daughters who have both been involved in Scouting as children and are now leaders.

I went to school at Upbury Manor in Gillingham and left to carry out an apprenticeship as an electrical engineer. I am now a service engineer for a cleaning chemical manufacturer in Banbury and spend my time travelling the south-east of England and I am also a part-time field officer for the Duke of Edinburgh Award for Medway Youth Service.

Q How long have you been associated with the Scouts and what is your role?

A I have been involved since the age of nine. I joined Cubs at the 1st Gillingham Scout Group and went on to Scouts and then Venture Scouts. After a year at Venture Scouts I went back to help my old Scout troop as an instructor, then became an assistant leader and then Scout leader. I eventually took over the role of group Scout leader.

I am now the assistant county commissioner for Scouts across Kent and also acting district commissioner for Gillingham. This gives me responsibility for the ten to 14-year-old Scouts in Kent and also the management of Gillingham's 12 Scout groups that all have Beavers, Cubs, Scouts and Explorer Scouts.

Q How relevant is the Scouts today compared to how it was 100 years ago?

A Baden-Powell started the Scout movement by taking young people camping, giving them freedom, responsibility and teaching them new skills that would help them develop and grow into forward thinking adults.

Scouting today still has those key principles, giving young people freedom in a safe environment, responsibility for programme planning and learning new skills in a balanced active programme. There is still a uniform and Scouting is proud to be the biggest co-educational uniformed organisation.

Q Does Gillingham enjoy strong Scouting numbers?

A Gillingham Scouts is thriving; the groups around the district are providing quality programmes, there has been a major upturn in people interested in being involved, both adults and young people. The need really is getting more adults involved, this would then give us the opportunity to offer more Scouting to more young people.

Q What sort of things do the Gillingham Scouts get up to?

A Gillingham Scouts get up to anything and everything, our Beaver Scouts (six to eight years) could be taking part in arts and craft activities, games, learning about healthy living, going on sleepovers, playing football. Our Cub Scouts (eight to ten) again do some of the activities Beavers do but also go camping, on day trips out and cooking.

Our Scouts (ten to 14) work in patrols of six to eight young people and again they do all that the younger sections do but will spend more nights away, winter camping, attending jamborees, shooting, survival skills, archery, climbing, abseiling.

Our Explorers (14 to 18) and Network (18 to 25) will again do all the fun stuff the younger sections do and also work towards their Duke of Edinburgh Awards, take part in international visits, learn to teach the skills to the younger sections and specialise in their favourite activities.

Q What would you like to achieve as Acting District Commissioner for the Gillingham Scout District?

A I would like to make Scouting more accessible for more young people, by growing the number of groups in the district and also encourage more adult volunteers to join in.

Q Anything you'd like to add?

A Anyone wishing to join Gillingham Scouts or volunteer their help can go to our website www.gillinghamscouts.org.uk or call us on 0845 094 6399.

Airbrushing requests are on the increase

BY RACHEL MCATHY

THE camera never lies, or so the saying goes, but what about the photos produced afterwards?

According to digital specialists in Kent, the end results are becoming further from the truth, as more and more people pay to have photos airbrushed and manipulated.

Far from the days of simple exposure adjustments, customers are now asking photo printers to remove wrinkles, whiten teeth and even remove excess weight.

Pete Innes, from Photovision Services in Sevenoaks, said the digital age has seen many more people wanting re-touched images.

"People ask for their skin to be smoothed, eyes brightened and skin colour warmed to make it look like they have a tan, instead of having the pasty skin look," he said.

"We have also removed people's wrinkles, basically making people look their best.

"Customers love the result.

"I am quite surprised it has become so popular, because it is normally quite expensive, some studios charge hundreds of pounds.

"Our requests are mainly from modelling agencies, but if the customer wants it, we will do it.

"In the past it was not easily done and would have to be done by hand, but this has changed in the digital age and made it much easier.

"I don't see the attraction myself."

Emma Hales, manager of Snappy Snaps in Maidstone, said airbrushing demands can vary.

"Some customers have wanted their surroundings touched up to make it look more scenic and others want a completely different background put in, to make it look more exotic," she said.

"Some people even ask for their passport photos to be airbrushed.

"We have also come across people wanting to have their double chin removed and we can change features like that to a certain extent.

"But you can't bring in a photo of yourself in a bikini and ask us to make you look like Jennifer Lopez, it is more subtle changes."

The high street photography chain has seen a huge increase in requests for their airbrushing services so far this year.

This includes requested re-touching to images for use on social networking or dating sites, such as Facebook, My Space and Match.com.

Staff have also been asked to take people out of photos, add people in and even patch images together to create a new group of people in the photograph.

In 2008, the store experienced a 550 per cent increase in airbrushing enquiries and this year, digital enhancement continues to be popular.

Ann Simpson, marketing director of Snappy Snaps, said: "Due to the popularity of sites such as Match.com, our stores have received more requests for the re-touching service.

"Customers want to ensure that profile images used on these dating and social networking sites are as picture perfect as possible.

"The obsession with all things celebrity means society is more accepting of techniques that improve appearance.

"And of course everyone wants to look their best."

But Peter Jull, from Zoom Photos in Dover and Deal, said airbrushing and re-touching for vanity reasons is only a small part of the business.

"Customers have asked to be made slimmer or have unfortunate marks removed.

"It can go as far as turning them into a fairy or cartoon character. But the vanity side of this work is much smaller than photo restoration."

Watch out for this itchy pest

KENT residents are being urged not to panic as towns experience an increase in populations of a rash-inducing caterpillar.

The brown tail moth caterpillar has hairs which cause serious irritation to the skin and eyes, as well as triggering severe breathing difficulties.

As a result Tonbridge and Malling council sent out a warning last week, advising residents to beware of the insect, which was increasing in numbers.

Gardeners were also put on high alert, as when the caterpillars join together, they are known to devastate vegetation.

Found in hedgerows and trees, the itchy-pest is normally black or grey, with tufts of ginger hairs poking out and two orange spots near its tail.

An adult larvae can have up to two million of these hairs. At this time of the year, the moths lay about 300 eggs on the leaves of trees and shrubs.

Towards the end of the summer, they moult, pupate and emerge as adult moths.

The moths have been controlled by council officials in Kent this week by removing the caterpillar 'tents', cutting off the affected twigs.

Anyone doing this themselves is warned they should wear protective clothing, such as rubber gloves.

Once removed, the 'tents' should be sealed in a plastic bag and either burnt or placed in the black-lidded wheeled bin.

Officials hope they have now removed the worst of the moths, but figures show populations are still increasing, particularly in the South during the last few years.

For more information call 01732 876299, email pest.control@tmhc.gov.uk, or visit www.tmh.gov.uk.

Send us your mugshots to aid the World's Biggest Coffee Morning

■ BY JON COATES

THE leading contender in a hunt for the Ugliest Mug in Kent has kept abreast of the competition for the last month.

Macmillan Cancer Support launched the search for the most quirky or bizarre drinking mug in the county at the end of July to kickstart its major fundraising event, the World's Biggest Coffee Morning.

The Ugly Mug Amnesty, which is backed by KOS Media, aims to find the wackiest or most embarrassing mug lurking at the back of your cupboards.

After four weeks of the amnesty, the best Ugly Mug received is this 'All The Breast Jimmy Jones' mug sent in by Kurstie Long.

However, the hunt still has another two weeks to run, so there's still time to get your entries in.

When you've found your Ugliest Mug, take a photo of you holding it and email it to the address at the end of this story.

Also make sure you tell us if the drinking receptacle has an interesting history or funny story behind how it came into your possession.

Please try to make sure we can see the mug clearly in your photo and include your name, age, address, job and contact details.

The winner of the amnesty will receive a World's Biggest Coffee Morning Mug from Macmillan Cancer Support and a £50 Coffee Gift Set from KOS Media.

The World's Biggest Coffee Morning is Macmillan's flagship fundraiser.

Now in its 19th year, it has become one of the biggest fundraising events in Britain – along with Children in Need, Red Nose Day and the Race for Life.

Macmillan asks the public to host or attend a coffee morning, with all donations going

BREAST IN SHOW: The happy canine owner of this Jimmy Jones mug could be the lucky winner directly to those affected by cancer.

Supporters are encouraged to visit www.macmillan.org.uk/coffee to register and pick up fund-raising tips, or call 0845 602 1246. Make sure you enter the code RNA 10 so Macmillan know you are a KOS Media reader.

Last year the World's Biggest Coffee Morning raised £7.5 million and the target this year is more than £8 million nationwide.

But we are calling on all our readers to help make Kent the biggest fundraiser in the whole of the country.

We'll be holding a coffee morning for staff on September 25 and urge businesses across the county to join in too.

Macmillan has 120 health professionals active across Kent, helping patients and their families deal with cancer. Their support means people do not have to face harrowing ordeals on their own.

• All entries into the Ugly Mug Amnesty must be received by Friday, September 11, with the winner announced in the Wednesday, September 16, midweek papers. Post your entries to Jon Coates, KOS Media, Apple Barn, Hythe Road, Smeeth, TN25 6SR, or email them to jon.coates@kosmedia.co.uk.

'We're on track for fuel poverty'

A FURIOUS rail passenger group has warned thousands of hard-hit commuters in Kent face "travel poverty" after the Government exempted Southeastern Trains from a national decrease in fares.

During the past three years the network has increased prices significantly above the rate of inflation.

It is one of only two regions not to benefit from the 0.4 per cent reduction in ticket costs later this year.

Season ticket prices will now rise by 1.6 per cent from next January as Kent is on a five-year franchise deal permitting Southeastern Trains to increase fares at a higher rate than the rest of the country. It will mean an average increase of £50 a year on a season ticket, which the operator claims is necessary to fund service improvements.

The move has prompted an angry response from Medway-based Fair's Fare on Southeastern Trains campaign group, which is petitioning Downing Street to re-think its plans.

Campaign leader Chris Irvine said: "We have been hammered too much by the rail companies over the last few years and this is just another slap in the face."

"The government has defined those who are in fuel poverty as being anyone spending ten per cent on heating costs. I already spend more than ten per cent of my wages on travel to work, does this mean people like me will be in fuel poverty now?"

A Southeastern spokesman said: "All regulated fares are subject to Department of Transport (DfT) regulations and as a result in January 2010 our average regulated fare will increase by the Retail Price Index (RPI)*plus three per cent, as set out in our franchise agreement with the DfT."

Hard work rewarded as A-level pupils make grade

MORE than 1,400 anxious Medway students have received their A-level results.

The sixth-form students had spent the last two years building up to this day, putting in hundreds of hours on homework, coursework and revision.

And it seems the hard work has paid off, with Medway expecting to post its best results.

Students at Rochester Grammar School for Girls were all smiles.

■ BY SIMON ROBINSON

Lily McManus, 18, achieved straight As in maths, further maths, chemistry and physics. She was one of four students to gain a place at Cambridge University, where she will read natural sciences.

She said: "I'm really happy. I was a little bit nervous but I thought I had done ok. I'm pretty happy now I know I've got into Cambridge. The school was great. I'm going out for a drink with my friends and then on to a music festival."

Ashley Hall, 18, also achieved straight As, in economics, geography, business studies and IT – and will study geography at Cambridge.

He said: "I feel incredible – over the moon. I didn't think I was going to get in. It's such a good feeling."

"I'm really excited now I know I'll be going to Cambridge. I was really nervous as there was a lot riding on my results."

"I'd like to say thank you to my teachers here, they've given me incredible support. When I wanted more help they gave it."

Headteacher Denise Shepherd said: "The results for both our A-level and our IB students have been outstanding this year."

"We are extremely proud of our students, who have worked so hard to produce these wonderful results and deserve their success."

"We are also mindful of the dedication of our staff, who consistently provide the highest quality of education for all our students."

For pupils whose results may not be as good as predicted, the message is don't panic and take time to assess the situation.

Help and advice is available from tutors and Medway Connexions. Phone the results helpline on 0800 046 7603 from Thursday, 20 August to Friday, 11 September, 11am to 5pm or visit www.medwayyouthtrust.org or www.connexions-direct.com

Alternatively, students can contact the National Results Helpline on 0808 100 8000.

Students should also contact admissions teams at colleges and universities if their results do not meet the offer grades to discuss whether they can be accepted on to the course or be offered an alternative.

Turning disappointing results into success

SMART students at Rochester Independent College posted top results – with 70 per cent of their A-level entries receiving A or B grades.

The established college is unparalleled in its ability to help students who have taken the decision to retake exams or need to improve on AS results.

One of this year's RIC success stories was Ravnique Mattu, pictured, who was delighted to achieve grades of A, B and C in her re-takes. The 19-year-old will now take up a place at the Medway School of Pharmacy.

Ravnique said: "I'm really pleased I'm staying in Medway. I'm a bit of a homebird and I really don't want to run up huge debts moving away when there is a top class university on my doorstep."

RIC's Hugh Lavery said: "For students aiming for highly-competitive courses, bad results can be very demoralising."

"The experience of this year's students demonstrates the possibility of bouncing back and realising long-held ambitions."

CELEBRATING: Amy Richards, Lily McManus, Ashley Hall, Sarah Webster, and Rahat Wasway were all smiles

Each week we get a mystery writer to air their views on living in Medway...

Ring in the changes and help stop irksome sales calls and junk mail

THIS is for everyone who has had enough of telephone sales people (and the recorded messages) AND the junk mail.

Below are my top tips for trying to end the telephone madness which wastes all of our time and to get your own back on the companies who send junk mail.

Firstly, when you get a sales call use these three little words: "Hold on, please."

Saying it, putting down your phone and walking off (instead of hanging-up immediately) would make each telemarketing call so much more time-consuming that sales rooms will grind to a halt.

Then when you eventually hear BT's 'beep-beep-beep' tone, you know it's time to go back and hang up your handset ...

You have efficiently completed your task.

These three little words could help eliminate telephone soliciting.

Next, do you ever get those annoying phone calls with no one on the other end?

This is a telemarketing technique where a machine makes phone calls and records the time of day when a person answers the phone.

This technique is then used to determine the best time of day for a 'real' salesperson to call back and get someone at home.

What you can do after answering: If you notice there is no one there, is to immediately start hitting your # button on the phone, six or seven times, as quickly as possible.

This confuses the machine that dialled the call and it kicks your number out of their system.

Gosh, what a shame not to have your name in their system any longer.

And now junk mail. When you get those 'pre-approved' letters in the mail for everything from credit cards to second mortgages and similar type junk, do not throw away the return envelope. Most of these come with postage-prepaid return envelopes.

Those cost the company more than the regular postage when they are returned.

Remember it costs them nothing if you throw them away. So, make use of them to get rid of some of your other junk mail and put it in these little, postage-prepaid return envelopes.

Send an advert for your local chimney sweep to American Express. They might need one.

Send a pizza coupon to HSBC, in case their canteen packs up. You get the idea.

If you didn't get anything else that day to be redistributed, just send them back their blank application form. After all, it is their form.

If you want to remain anonymous, just make sure your name isn't on anything you return.

The banks and credit card companies are currently getting a lot of their own junk back in the post, but if this is going to succeed, we need to OVERWHELM them to stop them.

Let's let them know what it's like to get lots of junk mail, and best of all they're paying for it. Twice. Let's help keep Royal Mail busy. Since the Royal Mail is saying that e-mail is cutting into their business profits.

If enough people follow these tips, it will work, maybe you'll get very little junk mail any more.

We talk to the head of Kent and Medway Alcohol Services about the issues surrounding problem drinking

Is there a problem with alcohol in Kent?

Alcohol problems occur across the country and have powerful consequences both for society and the individual. A recent study showed that levels of alcohol consumption in Kent are relatively high compared with other parts of England.

Have you seen an increase in alcohol abuse among young people in Kent?

Alcohol is cheaper and more widely available now and we know that people are drinking heavily at younger ages. It seems likely that the number of people with alcohol problems in Kent will continue to increase in general. The number who seek and are referred for help has never been higher. More people are seeking help for drinking problems than in previous years. But much of the problematic alcohol use remains hidden and cannot be measured accurately.

What advice can you give to people who are worried about their drinking habits?

It's important to recognise that alcohol problems can be solved with or without specialist help. There are many things people can do to reduce their consumption, such as keeping a record of consumption and trying to reduce this, and talking to someone who is trusted. If people are concerned, it is easy to get help. The staff at the alcohol service can give advice.

Coal-fired station must be opposed

One year on from the Climate Camp, there is still a lot of misunderstanding about the reasons for opposing a new coal-fired power station at Kingsnorth.

The threat of catastrophic climate change is real and the international scientific consensus is that we need to sharply reduce carbon dioxide emissions as soon as possible – certainly by 2015.

E.ON and the Government claim that Carbon Capture and Storage is the solution to this problem. The fact is that carbon capture and storage at Kingsnorth will only be a small part of a new Kingsnorth coal-fired power station, because it is not yet clear that CCS is commercially viable and can work on a large scale.

By E.ON's own admission it will not be clear whether CCS is viable before 2020 and the Government has stated that all power stations will not be required to use CCS until 2025.

This is way too late. The reason so much money is spent on CCS is to allow private energy companies to continue to use coal and other fossil fuels, because they are the most profitable option.

Coal mines in Britain were closed in the 90s because coal was considered to be too expensive. At the moment, coal happens to be cheaper, but the economics of coal could change again and all that investment in CCS that could have been used in developing renewable sources of energy will have been wasted and our future put at risk.

A new coal-fired power station is a short-term fix that risks our long-term future and must be opposed.

Try getting a taste for local wine

After spending a few days travelling around Kent I would like to take the opportunity to agree with your story last week about the standard of the area's wines.

They have an excellent taste and are noticeably better than some of the stuff regularly sold over the counter and recommended as coming from traditional wine-making countries.

English wine used to be a joke but now it is really holding its own in the world market.

I will continue to search out new varieties and enjoy them – especially at a time when consuming local produce to cut down on food air miles is of such importance.

Good drivers don't mind CCTV spy car

When will people stop moaning about Medway Council's CCTV Smart Car?

If you don't park anywhere you shouldn't, you won't get fined. It's as simple as that.

It seems obvious to me that the people who constantly whinge when the car is spotted parked on double yellow lines, as it is perfectly allowed to do, are the ones who have been caught out.

If you don't want to be left out of pocket then just park legally. Don't go around pointing the finger at Medway Council. It's not their fault that Medway motorists continually abuse simple road rules.

Apprenticeships may be the way forward

Well done to the school-leavers who did so well in their A-level results. But now apparently there is a shortage of university places for those same youngsters.

So what about the idea of bringing back apprenticeships, which would have the double effect of educating the school-leavers while allowing them to earn their own money at the same time?

It is a matter of constant annoyance that there are so few people in Britain being trained in practical and engineering matters.

This would be a way for the shortage to be remedied.

Mike Harrison,

High-speed service must be affordable

Let's hope that tickets on the new high-speed train services linking the county with London are set at reasonable rates.

If the train companies want to get people off the roads and onto the rails they should ensure that a trip on the new service does not end up too expensive.

I agree it can be made slightly more than the current fee, but pricing tickets out of the reach of the majority of travellers will be self-defeating in the extreme.

Marion Davies,

Council tax payments are beyond many

All councils are having problems with people being unable to pay their bills during the recession.

The Conservative-run Medway Council is making the problem worse by imposing huge council tax rises each year.

There's no point increasing council tax bills if people aren't going to be able to afford them.

With fuel bills also having risen, the inflation-busting council tax rises are the last straw for many.

Ali's currying favour with tropical setting

■ Ace of Spice

THE famous Ace of Spice is exceptionally well known in the Medway area because of the quality of its food, service and décor.

Every Tuesday is banquet night. Diners are invited to choose any starter, any main course, any side dish and sundries, for only £9.95 per person (king prawns £2.90 extra). This is one of their most popular nights.

Many celebrities have taken advantage of the excellent food, including leading Labour MP John Prescott, members of the cast of Hollyoaks and those appearing in pantomime in the Medway towns.

Owner Ali Choudary has transformed the restaurant into one of the best regarded local curry houses and used his years of expertise to offer diners an opportunity to eat in a place which turns every meal into an experience.

Staff are at pains to assist diners in choosing the very best food to complement the main courses, and are always on hand for advice in what is particularly appropriate when it comes to side dishes.

Ali takes a lot of pride in the décor of the Ace of Spice, which uses subtle lighting and designs to recreate the atmosphere of the east.

A starry sky and exotic plants are just two features which complement the food by transporting diners to a tropical location far from the streets of Medway.

All of the different aspects combine to give the true flavour of the Orient and make even those who have wide culinary experience take notice of what they have been offered.

The area around is busy, but there is ample parking available and families are welcome. "Come and try our chef's specialities, you are sure not to be disappointed," added Ali.

If you are preparing for Christmas, book now as the restaurant fills up very quickly.

Take the family for good home cooking

■ The King's Head

A BEAUTIFULLY-located establishment with spectacular views across the Weald, The Kings Head has been transformed since it re-opened last month.

Bill and Margaret King have ensured their 25 years of experience is reflected in the food and décor.

Bill said: "We opened for business in July and haven't looked back since."

"Sunday carvery has been our flagship for more than 25 years and is now, once again, proving popular with our guests."

"We serve a large selection of fresh vegetables which are cooked and served throughout the service and all of our meats and vegetables are locally sourced and prepared."

The Kings Head promises at least three different types of meat with the carvery and prides itself on some of the traditional puddings like "mum used to make".

And if you are looking to eat out as a family, then you should take a look at the early doors family special, from 5pm until 7.30pm, Monday to Thursday, which competes on price with fast food restaurants. It'll be more fun for your children too.

Evening meals take place in the beautifully refurbished dining room and there is morning coffee for passing visitors who just want to relax and have a break.

The function room is also available for private hire for any occasion and free bar billiards is available for anyone to enjoy.

Bill and Margaret also plan to have a quiz night up and running soon, as well as wireless internet access.

It's carnival time again!

Rescued parade will be highlight of show, which also features music, aerobatic thrills and animal displays

EAST KENT COUNTY SHOW

Saturday, August 29, to Monday, August 31
Folkestone Racecourse

CELEBRATE the bank holiday weekend with three days of fun at the East Kent County Show.

One of the event's big attractions will be the return of the Folkestone Carnival parade, which takes place at 3pm on Sunday.

Although it was reluctantly decided earlier this year that the carnival could not go ahead, Racecourse Promotions has offered to sponsor the carnival for the next three years. This means the carnival tradition can continue, to the delight of its participants and fans.

Boasting a busy programme of events and entertainment for all the family, the East Kent County Show has attractions both on land and in the air.

From the natural entertainers of the animal world, such as ferrets and birds of prey, to thrilling aerobatic displays, visitors will find plenty to keep them busy all day.

Tribute

On Saturday the main stage will host a diverse array of entertainment, including a performing-arts show, the semi-final of Kent's Got Talent, a Michael Jackson tribute, Battle of the Bands, Chix Wiv Pix and Blues Brothers' Little Brother.

Also appearing will be singer Mark Read (pictured), formerly of boy band A1.

There will be action in the skies from parachutists, Headcorn Turb-team and an aerobatic biplane display, followed by more aerial entertainment from Kent Glider Club and a SV4 Stampe on Sunday.

The second day's main-stage entertainment includes a nostalgic 60s and 70s set from The Vintage Corporation, along with more dog agility and falconry displays, ferret and terrier-racing and hands-on falconry in the arena.

On Bank Holiday Monday the Red Arrows are due to show off the breathtaking aerial agility that has made them such a popular attraction.

Many motoring clubs and individual fans will be exhibiting their pride and joy in the classic car show, while people's flower-growing, vegetable-tending and bee-keeping endeavours will be rewarded in the horticultural marquee.

Cowboys and indians will do battle in Kent when the Lonestar Re-enactment Group meets the British Pow Wow Re-enactment Trust, with both factions living in traditional style on site. Find out more about countryside lifestyles, gardening, crafts and home improvements at the show's many other attractions.

KARTING

Sunday, August 30
Buckmore Park, Chatham

ADD some real excitement to your bank holiday weekend with a visit to Buckmore Park kart circuit.

Aspiring racing drivers can follow in the tyre tracks of Formula One world champion Lewis Hamilton, who was discovered behind the wheel of a kart on that very circuit, along with fellow Formula One star Jenson Button and former British Grand Prix winner Johnny Herbert.

Rookie racers of all ages can push the pedal to the metal at Buckmore, as no experience is necessary.

On Sunday there will be a family karting day with separate sessions taking place on three different circuit lengths.

Children aged from four to seven can get behind the wheel of 6mph electric karts, while those aged from eight to 11 will feel the burn in 20mph petrol karts. Things will step up a gear for ages 12 to 16 with the 40mph petrol karts and those above 16 can roar around the track in 70mph petrol karts.

The event runs from 10am to 5pm. All equipment is supplied and a full safety briefing will be given.

For more information, call 01634 661612 or visit www.buckmore.co.uk.

TONY BENN

Monday, September 14
Orchard Theatre, Dartford

VETERAN politician Tony Benn will be talking about his life in politics when he visits Dartford.

As the longest-serving Labour MP in the history of the party, Benn enjoyed a 50-year career in Parliament. He joined the party in 1942 and retired from the House of Commons in May 2001, so he should be very well-placed to discuss the changes that have taken place in the Labour Party over the years. There are sure to be plenty of entertaining political anecdotes to enjoy as well.

Benn served as a Cabinet minister in the Wilson and Callaghan governments from 1964 to 1979, during which time he acted as Minister of Technology. He was also Secretary of State for both industry and energy, while in 1977 he became President of the Council of European Energy Ministers. He was an elected member of the National Executive Committee of the Labour Party for 35 years and chaired the party from 1971-2.

The show starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £18/£16. Book online at www.orchardtheatre.co.uk or call the Orchard Theatre box office on 01322 220000.

SMUGGLERS EVENT

Sunday, August 30 &
Monday August 31
The Historic Dockyard, Chatham

DISCOVER the mysterious world of smuggling at the Historic Dockyard this Bank Holiday weekend.

Smugglers will emerge from hiding to share their secrets with visitors and perhaps even divulge the whereabouts of their secret treasure.

Children will be able to snatch their share of the smuggled goods with a lucky dip and they will also have the chance to win a prize by taking part in the Spot the Smuggler Trail.

More fun is on offer with the interactive Smuggler's Tale storytelling session and creative workshops.

A roving, singing smuggler will be meeting visitors around the Dockyard, while on board HMS Gannet visitors will find a variety of children's games.

Other attractions include a family fun trail, a brass-rubbing trail and the family Ropery tour, all of which will provide fascinating ways to learn about the past.

MEDWAY LEISURE

Bands play for charity at summer's last gigs

A GREAT line-up of bands will perform at the summer's last open-air event at The Command House in Chatham.

Riverside Live runs from Saturday to Bank Holiday Monday and bands include Reasonable Doubt, What Would Jesus Drive and Wave Park.

On Sunday, the Medway Happenings Fest presents a line-up that will be playing to raise funds for Oxfam.

Feel the G-Force with animated action film

GUINEA pigs are recruited as secret agents in the animated film, G-Force.

The film can be seen at Chatham's Central Theatre until September 3. G-Force (cert PG) starts at noon and 2.30pm every day except Sundays and bank holiday Monday.

Tickets cost £4/£3.25. Book online at www.medway.gov.uk/theatrebooking or call 01634 338338.

One last hurrah can be savoured at The Command House, Chatham, this weekend, with the riverside venue lining up dozens of bands to play between Saturday and Monday.

■ BY SIMON ROBINSON

The three-day Bank Holiday weekend brings the Medway pub's outdoor Riverside Live programme to a close.

A Command House spokesman said he hoped this weekend's bill would be a fitting end to the summer season.

He said: "After 15 Riverside Live events featuring more than 100 bands and some great events, such as Love Music Hate Racism, the line-up for this final weekend is going to be one of the best yet."

"We'll be featuring acts such as Tyrannosaurus Alan, Reasonable Doubt, Aliquot Flow, FaithnFury, Crimson Tears, Tank Trap, Everything & Nothing, Lodestone.

"As a warm-up for their up-coming UK tour, alternative indie favourites What Would Jesus Drive will be using the event to launch their new single on the Medway crowd.

"Fans will be able to hear the new offering a full two weeks before the official launch in London.

"Hard-working indie/rock band Wave Park will be flying back from a gruelling month-long tour of Italy to appear on the Monday evening for one of their rocket-fuelled sets."

Sunday sees the second annual Medway Happenings Fest charity one-dayer take place, raising money for the Oxfam appeal.

This year's line-up includes UpCDownC, The Vanderbilts, My Last Mistake, The Bresslaws and many others.

Everything happens at the right time for Rachel

WITH romantic films like The Notebook and The Family Stone to her name, it's hardly surprising that Rachel McAdams goes gooey at the mention of love.

"Yeah! I confess, I am a romantic," admits the 30-year-old actress, when we meet in a plush suite at a New York hotel.

Canadian-born Rachel's favourite love story is the one about her parents, who have been happily married for many years.

"I find relationships so fascinating. I like just watching my parents – they've been together so long and they're still so very much in love," she says.

"I'm in awe of that. I think it's a really interesting case study, to see how people spend their lives together.

"There are all these intimate moments that you're not privy to in life. You can't be a fly on the wall in people's relationships."

While the actress will discuss her parents' marriage, she's more guarded when it comes to her own relationships, which famously include a three-year romance with Notebook co-star Ryan Gosling (who hails from her hometown) and her current beau, actor Josh Lucas.

"I think there's a lot that happens in life that's very serendipitous," she says cryptically, refusing to be drawn into further detail.

Rachel – looking chic in a colourful one-shouldered Abaete creation, with her hair swept up – is set to light up the big screen again in the romantic fantasy, The Time Traveler's Wife.

Based on the best-selling novel by Audrey Niffenegger, it tells the story of Clare, whose one true love, Henry (played by Eric Bana), suffers from a rare genetic disorder, which makes him travel back and forth through time uncontrollably.

The effect is that the couple meet when they're both at different stages of their lives – while Clare's life runs chronologically, Henry often pops into it from the future, so that he's older than she is.

To say that Rachel loved the book – and coveted the role – is an understatement.

"I'd read the book and dreamed of playing Clare for a while, and it was such a long time before it happened," she reveals.

"I just fell madly in love with it and knew in the back of my mind that they were doing a movie at some point in time and I just waited. Hoping, a."

She adds: "I loved the story and I loved [director] Robert Schwentke's take on the story and I wanted to adapt that and translate that as well as I possibly could."

Rachel – who played high-school bully Regina in Mean Girls – was propelled to rising heights following the unexpected success of The Notebook, which then led to supporting roles in Wedding Crashers and The Family Stone.

Over the past few years she's also turned her hand to heavier films, such as Red Eye and State Of Play – decisions she feels were partially taken out of her hands.

■ BY SHEREEN LOW

"I definitely believe in the power of energy and that you are drawn to certain things for inexplicable reasons, but in a very powerful way. I think everything happens for a reason," she says.

Whether it's fate or not, Rachel's status as one of Hollywood's most sought-after leading ladies will soon be cemented with the release of Guy Ritchie's Sherlock Holmes in December, which sees her play a femme fatale who outwits the famous Baker Street detective (Robert Downey Jr).

"It was so much fun because everything was so realistic and we were shooting in the real dungeons of London."

Dogs have always had subtle little ways of telling us when something's wrong, but with gum disease it's not that easy. Did you know that 4 out of 5 dogs over the age of three experience gum disease? Despite this, 90% of owners think their dog's teeth and gums are healthy. In dogs, gum disease is caused by food particles and bacteria collecting along the gum line, forming plaque. If your dog has bad breath, this could be an early sign that all might not be well. What's more, if this plaque is not removed it forms tartar, which can build up and cause the gums to become red and swollen. This can lead to bad breath.

A daily oral care routine can help reduce the build up of tartar, so why wait? One solution is to get yourself and your dog into good habits early by starting to brush his teeth when he's a puppy. Or, if you have an older dog, you can still get started on an oral care routine – it's not always true that you can't teach an old dog new tricks! If brushing your dog's teeth proves difficult, why not start giving him a Pedigree? Daily DentaStix? everyday? They have a unique x-shape and special texture, and when fed daily, are clinically proven to help reduce the build up of tartar by up to 80%, helping to reduce the risk of gum disease. What's more, your dog will enjoy the delicious flavour and look forward to his daily treat. So to help keep your dog's teeth and gums healthy and strong, get into the habit of feeding great tasting Pedigree? Daily DentaStix? as part of an effective oral care routine. You clean your teeth every day, so should your dog!

Visit your vet for a FREE dental check-up & goody bag

During September over 1,500 veterinary practices will be providing FREE dental check-ups for dogs.

A staggering 4 out of 5 dogs over the age of 3 experience gum disease. That's why vets around the country are joining together to help tackle the problem.

CHIPMUNK

LIVE

For someone who's just 18, Chipmunk has already achieved a lot. In 2008 he received a MOBO award for Best Newcomer, an Urban Music Award for Best Newcomer and a nomination for Best Rapper at the American BET Awards, not to mention having racked up millions of plays across his MySpace and Youtube channels.

His latest single Diamond Rings went straight in at #6 on the UK Top 40. See him performing this and other great tracks at this huge event.

KID BRITISH

LIVE

Kid British create their own noise by mixing a bit of this with a bit of that and ending up with one big fat manky sandwich! Take a tasty shank of old school ska and dancehall, a generous twist of indie, and a light splash of reggae, and garnish with a juicy slice of electro pop - voila! These lads whip up a tune as easily as Jamie Oliver making a meal out of the contents of a student's fridge.

The Manchester four-piece will be performing their 2009 hit Our House is Dadless among others.

plus...

As well as enjoying top quality live acts and entertainment, visitors will be given the chance to find out about options for their future at this action-packed event to remember.

Come along and you could find yourself:

- >> Taking part in street dance and DJ workshops
- >> Watching cool department demonstrations
- >> Chatting to Connexions Advisers
- >> Receiving some impartial careers advice
- >> Taking a tour of our brand-spanking-new Campus
- >> And loads more!

Other acts include...

Underground Heroes

Their ska-injected, punk-tastic melodies make them instantly recognisable as the freshest sound to have soaked onto the indie-pop scene for... well... a bloomin' long time! Could Underground Heroes be the best thing since sliced bread? We certainly think so!

JORDAN PARKINSON

Jordan is a rising young talent, already well known in the south east and on the verge of signing to a major label. Jordan is one of those acts you remember where you first saw. On the day he'll be performing with his full band of musicians.

PHOEBE PEEK

Local lass Phoebe Peek is going to be big! Just remember you heard it here first! Her self-penned folk-tastic tunes are sure to knock your socks off with their soft vocals and touching lyrics.

KRISSY AND THE JACKDAWS

Krissy and the Jackdaws combine blues-rock drums, folk guitar and country harmonies to create their own unique sound. Recent winners of the Tap 'N' Tin's Battle of the Bands, this Kentish threesome are set to take the UK by storm.

TYRANNOSAURUS ALAN

Tyrannosaurus Alan are an eclectic seven-piece ska hip hop chaos machine from Medway, fresh from a month-long UK tour.

YOUR TV REVIEW

■ BY JAMES ALEXANDRE

BENEFIT BUSTERS Channel 4, Thursday, 9pm

SINGLE mums living off the welfare state may not sound the most exciting of subjects – but it is definitely one of the most controversial.

The first recession for a generation has turned the spotlight firmly on those who could or should work, but for whatever reason have come to depend on the handouts that are becoming increasingly difficult to justify.

Channel 4's new series Benefit Busters seems, at first, to be another one of those excuses to glare at and scrutinise those who would happily rip us off, making them the object of hardworking people's ire.

Certainly the trailer and opening shots makes you think these are all perfectly capable adults who have grown too used to a lazy lifestyle to want to give it up for the toil and sweat of a nine to five shift in budget store Poundland.

That is the case until we are confronted by the benefit buster herself, an imposing Northern lady by the name of Hayley Taylor who works for A4E, a 'private welfare contractor' employed by the Government to try and turn these mums' lives around and get them off the social.

She has a sergeant major persona accompanied by colourful clichés such as how those sat around the table with her can turn themselves from 'ugly caterpillars' to 'beautiful butterflies' in their search for full-time work.

This tough love approach at first looks as though it's all going to backfire, given the hopelessness of some of the candidates facing her.

One mum, Dawn, bemoans the fact she's been out of work for years and has run up thousands of pounds on credit cards while pleading a life of poverty, before the camera artfully cuts to the jumbo-sized TV screen in the corner.

TOUGH LOVE: Hayley Taylor aims to help jobless

Another, 34-year-old Yvette who has four children and has never worked, complains her standard of life would be impossible to keep up without the handouts she receives. But the programme does achieve a remarkable turnaround when the more human, lonely side of these women's plight becomes apparent.

Donah, another mum who has been unemployed for years, is revealed to have a drink problem, but is helped to overcome it thanks to Hayley.

But they do all share the same aspiration to want to return to work and gain some respect from the society they live in, and you could not help but wish success for all concerned.

The uplifting scene at the end where one-by-one each receives a phone call asking them to take a part in a two-week, unpaid trial at Poundland, with the view of getting a full-time job, definitely rouses the spirits.

Enjoy a safe haven in Jamaica

■ BY ANNA SMITH

JAMAICA, even with its lush greenery and beautiful golden sands, isn't always seen as the friendliest island in the Caribbean.

It is home to reggae legend Bob Marley and Olympic champion Usain 'Lightning' Bolt, as well as the finest rum and coffee in the world, but the media paints it as a dangerous place.

The former British colony reportedly has one of the highest murder rates in the world, with gun crime and gang warfare rife.

But any sense of menace was quickly dispelled as we arrived safely at Sangster International Airport and returned a wave from the smiling ground staff.

Images of violence are hard to take in when you see the island's tropical rainforests, sprawling American-style resorts, topsy-turvy shacks and whitewashed mansions, one of which, our friendly driver Maxwell pointed out, belongs to Rolling Stone Keith Richards.

On the way to our resort, Couples Sans Souci, in the north, near the port town of Ocho Rios, Maxwell pointed out tourist hotspots.

There's Dry Harbour, now called Discovery Bay, said to be the landing point of Christopher Columbus in 1494.

Closer to Ocho Rios, we saw Dolphin Cove, a popular tourist attraction where you can swim with sea mammals or even sharks.

Picturesque Dunn's River Falls attracts visitors from all over Jamaica. Here, you and fellow tourists can scale the rocks in a human chain as water cascades all around you.

We arrived at Couples Sans Souci tired but ready to see more. Our traditional Jamaican room had floral bedspreads, mismatched furniture and cream floor tiles, while the air-con was a welcome relief from the heat outside.

Sans Souci has an old-school charm that creates a cosy, homely haven. It's built into a cliff, with winding paths and stone steps linking the different aspects of the resort – the arched beach bay, the restaurants, bars and pools and spa facilities where we indulged in a massage in a gazebo on the edge of the Caribbean Sea.

Jamaica, and Sans Souci in particular, are popular with American tourists, thanks to the short hour-and-a-half flight to Florida.

We also spent a day at Couples Tower Isle, two miles up the road. The resort had just had a multi-million-dollar refurbishment. Where Sans Souci is traditional, Tower Isle is more modern with a European feel.

Don't miss the piano bar, lined with old photos of the company's founder Abe Issa rubbing shoulders with celebrities such as Walt Disney and Eva Gabor. Abe was nicknamed the father of Jamaican tourism when, in the late-1950s, he helped visitor arrivals surge from 86,000 to 227,000 per year.

Visitors afraid to venture off their resorts will miss out on really experiencing the culture of this diverse and dynamic country.

Downtown Ocho Rios was once a fishing village. It's now a famous stop for cruise ships in the Caribbean and is considered one of the safest areas for tourists in Jamaica.

The town is busy and vibrant, with colourful, if rundown, shops and side-road market stalls.

Our reception in Jamaica could not have been warmer. And there's one other thing British visitors should remember: with the pound currently buying almost 150 Jamaican dollars, your money will go a bit further than it might in other countries this summer.

Third of homeowners unable to move house

THE housing market downturn has left up to 3.5 million Britons unable to move, according to research from mortgage broker John Charcol.

The estimate is that one-third of UK households with residential mortgages are stuck in their properties due to falling prices which have eroded the amount of equity they hold and restricted access to mortgage finance.

The firm has calculated that some two million households are either in negative equity or have seen their stakes in their properties shrink to below ten per cent.

A further 500,000 hold equity of between ten per cent and 15 per cent and an estimated one million are effectively excluded from the mortgage market because their home loans fall into the sub-prime or self-cert categories.

John Charcol spokesman Ray Boulger said: "When people move, they rely on the equity in their property to provide most of the deposit for their new property, currently a minimum of ten per cent in most cases, plus moving costs, of which stamp duty land tax is often the biggest."

And the findings have importance beyond the effect on those undergoing the problem, analysts are warning.

Mr Boulger added: "Having such a large number of households currently unable to move is not only a serious problem for those concerned, but also has macro-economic consequences."

Average asking price down since last month

HOME-SELLERS asked 2.2 per cent less for their houses in the past four weeks than one month earlier, according to numbers released by Rightmove, the property website.

The average asking price for a home in England and Wales was £222,762, more than £5,000 less than in the four weeks to July 12.

The finding contrasted with Rightmove's warning last month that the "window of opportunity to pick up best buys" was closing, after five out of six months had shown price increases.

The average asking price on the website is now 3.1 per cent less than a year ago.

The summer is usually a quiet time in the housing market – the average asking price on Rightmove fell by a similar amount last August. This summer, however, the company said traffic on its website was higher than ever, suggesting buyers were returning to the market.

Auction director is going, going, gone

BY JAMES ALEXANDRE

ONE of the best-known figures on the county's property scene is to retire after more than 45 years in the business.

David Allen, auction director at Ward & Partners, was 18 when he entered the profession in 1963, when a typical three-bedroom semi could be bought for as little as £2,500.

He managed the Sheerness office in 1977 before Wards became part of the Arun Estates Group, with David as operations director in charge of 12 offices in the west of the county.

He also found time to set up the firm's exclusive homes and overseas operations, as well as running the existing auctions department, before eventually focusing solely on the auction side of the business. He was appointed auction director for the entire Arun Estates Group in 2001.

David, a keen golfer, said: "I feel very fortunate that I have experienced all facets of estate agency in my 45 years of practice – from residential sales to commercial, agricultural and industrial, overseas and, of course, auctions."

"For the last 32 years I have been privileged to work for what I consider to be the finest estate agency in the South East, bar none."

Rather than seek a replacement, it has been decided to close the auction department altogether and refer all such business to the agency's corporate client and land and new homes departments.

In tribute, David Lench, Ward's managing director, said: "Trying to find someone with such breadth of experience in the Kent property market would be well-nigh impossible."

"I would like to thank all of the auction department's clients for their loyalty over the years and assure them that they will continue to be well looked after by Ward & Partners' extensive network of offices and specialist departments, which continue to go from strength to strength."

Mr Allen, when asked what he intends to do with his free time, promptly replied: "Play lots of golf!"

But with the county's property market seemingly beginning a slow but steady recovery, there will probably be only one topic of conversation with fellow players between holes – house prices.

The corporate client and new homes department can be phoned on 01634 735688.

OUTGOING: Retiring auction director David Allen

Banks cash in as borrowers face high-SVR repayments

HOMEOWNERS are being forced to pay as much as £1,300 extra a year after their initial mortgage comes to an end, according to a national newspaper.

Analysts say it is happening because lenders are taking advantage of consumers' difficulty in getting new deals.

Exclusive research for The Daily Telegraph has revealed the latest evidence of how banks are profiteering amid the credit crisis by refusing to cut interest rates for borrowers.

The newspaper said it discovered that almost a third of lenders had a standard variable rate – the rate which home loans revert to after the initial rate comes to an end – of more than 5 per cent, with the highest being 6.45 per cent.

These standard variable rates (SVRs) vary from lender to lender, and the rising cost of mortgages means some borrowers can be better off slipping automatically on to such a rate as it may be lower than what they were previously paying.

For example, the lowest SVR is just 2.5 per cent.

But financial analysts urged borrowers to check their lender's SVR as they could be in for a nasty shock, paying a much higher rate than they were expecting.

The research by personal finance website

Moneyfacts showed 26 out of 90 lenders had an SVR of more than 5 per cent.

The average margin between Bank of England interest rates at 0.5 per cent and the average SVR has risen from 1.72 per cent at the end of 2007 compared with 4.12 per cent today, Moneyfacts said.

Previously households have been able to avoid paying the standard variable rate by switching to new deals, but the credit crunch now means many no longer have that option.

On a typical £150,000 mortgage, borrowers save £335 a month by paying the cheapest SVR of 2.5 per cent compared with the most expensive of 6.45 per cent.

MOTORS NEWS

Citroën challenges for cult car crown with DS3

WAKE up BMW and Fiat – a new cult car challenger from Citroën is due here next spring.

Like the BMW Mini and Fiat 500, the all-new compact DS3 – the first of three DS premium models – offers a wide range of personalisation options under a scheme to be called 'My DS3'.

It will stand out anyway through sharp design, colour-contrasted 'floating roof' in black, white, blue or red, 'shark fin' side pillars and sleek front LED lights and customisable interior too.

Less is more for Astra's range of eco stunners

NOT only will Vauxhall's next Astra offer stunning looks, but also reflect a fast-changing engine market when it arrives at the end of this year.

Smaller and more efficient petrol engines and efficient diesels ranging from 85-180bhp are promised, with a low emissions ecoFLEX diesel due later.

Most intriguing is an all-new turbocharged 1.4-litre petrol engine, reflecting a trend started by VW, which can deliver extra power when needed yet has much lower emissions and fuel consumption.

Kuga's appeal springs sales to a new height

FROM being one of the rarest Fords on sale, the Kuga SUV may yet become one of the company's better known.

After a slow burn since launch in 2008, coinciding with a consumer swing away from 4x4s and styling, the Kuga was Britain's best-selling compact 4x4 in July – consumers now realise that not every 4x4 is a gas guzzler.

The Ford uses a familiar system that allows it to run mostly in economical front-wheel drive and is one of the best styled small 4x4s.

GREEN MACHINE: Vauxhall's Corsa ecoFLEX is one of the best 'green' cars available on the market at the moment with good handling and some clever use of space for stowage

Vauxhall's eco Corsa gets the green light it deserves

70mpg though and 85mpg in official extra urban or 'poodling along at 50-ish' mode – this is the marque's most economical car ever.

The Corsa's distinctive slippery lines help, further aided by a rear spoiler, but ride height has been shaved by 20mm and the car lightened by 45 kilos. It even has the narrower low-rolling resistance tyres favoured by the new eco breed. This usually means tyre squealing on bends and 'interesting' handling but, in this case, they deliver plenty of grip and cornering and refinement levels are good for this class.

The cabin is well-arranged, big and practical, particularly in five-door format, as tested here, with a false floor to the boot that delivers a flat load bay with rear seat backs folded down, but also offers a suitcase-deep compartment between that floor and spare wheel stowage.

The rear seat back can be set in two positions, with the more upright maximising boot space at the expense of passenger comfort.

My only gripes are a drab cabin decor even on our mid-range Corsa Club model – gloomy enough to dampen any eco warrior's enthusiasm – and a high price against some rivals that can match the ecoFLEX's economy and emissions, without all its clever tricks.

USED CAR ROUND-UP: OUR PICK FROM A KEY SECTOR

CITYCARS

DEMAND for small cars is booming as the drive to cut costs, consumption and emissions gathers pace. No wonder that we all ask ourselves: "Just how much car do I really need?" For single users, couples and small families, the answer is something of a no-brainer when a small supermini – now popularly known as a city car or urban runabout – can return nearly 60mpg and falls into the lowest road tax bands. We have chosen three of the UK's cheapest cars to buy used, then tax, fuel and insure.

FIAT PANDA

FIAT'S Panda mini marvel donated the chassis and running gear for the Fiat 500 cult car, underlining corporate confidence in the oily bits and bearing out high marks in reliability surveys. Nor should we forget the Panda is a former European Car of the Year award winner; it offers five doors, acres of space, cut-price running costs and a decent drive and there are even diesel and 4x4 options – though both of those command a used market premium.

CHEVROLET MATIZ

INCH for inch, the Matiz was state-of-the-art in terms of five-door compact city car design when it arrived as a Daewoo in 1998. Early 800cc versions were gutless and rather noisy on the motorway though, so go for the 1.0-litre engine if possible. Otherwise, the Matiz is a frugal and well-equipped easily-parked car for local driving and surprisingly spacious and versatile, with a comfortable ride. Aesthetically, the original design is better than the 'puffed up' facelift version.

KIA PICANTO

KOREA'S Kia has become one of the fastest growing car brands in the UK by adding design and customer appeal to its reputation for value. The five-door Picanto highlights this rapid revolution, with its cheeky looks and generous spec; even entry level models come with steering wheel adjustment, remote central locking, ABS, front electric windows, split folding seats and a radio/CD player. Insurance is also cheap, all engines average well over 50mpg and used examples are plentiful.

Excellent benefits package | FOLKESTONE

Listening to customers. Taking the time to understand their needs. Building a real rapport with them. That's what we call doing things properly for our customers as we deliver great service, selling our products to people aged 50 and over.

And if you can help us achieve that, we'll do things properly for you too. That means excellent training and development at every stage. It also means unlimited earnings potential and superb benefits including private healthcare, pension scheme, social club and discounts on insurance products, holidays and flights for you and your relatives.

What's more, it means a friendly working environment – as well as all the training and support you need to do a terrific job.

The question is, have you got what it takes to be part of this fast-growing national company? You'll need to be target driven and able to rise to new challenges, that's for sure. You must also share our commitment to getting things right – every time. If you're interested in any of our roles within Outbound, Private Medical Insurance, Personal Finance and Broking, relevant experience would be beneficial but not essential.

If it's time for you to enjoy the rewards you deserve please write enclosing your CV, quoting reference SVS325/KOS, to Alice Forsyth, HR Officer, Saga Group Limited, Enbrook Park, Folkestone, Kent CT20 3SE or e-mail: human.resources@saga.co.uk Alternatively, please call 01303 774888 for an application form or download one from our website.

BY DAVID PRITCHARD

Kent Cricket League Division One

Folkestone 1st XI v Lordswood 1st XI

LORDSWOOD sealed their return to the top flight with a winning draw against Folkestone on Saturday.

Jeremy Greaves' side have been the class act in Division One all season and rubber stamped their title with two games to spare.

The game began badly for the runaway league leaders, who lost openers Alan Pattenden and Dale Hackney with only 20 runs on the board.

Normal service was resumed with a third wicket partnership worth 93. Lords skipper Greaves fell just short of a half-century, something Lyndon Lockhart achieved before he was caught by David Miles.

Solid, if unspectacular, scoring for the rest of the innings took Lordswood to 219 for 5 from their 50 overs. Folkestone shared the wickets around, with Ashok Kadam the only bowler to take more than one scalp.

Folkestone would have fancied their chances of chasing down 220 for a surprise victory, but like their opponents, both openers failed to make much of an impression. Both Miles and Nick Graham were dismissed by Matt Iles while still in single figures.

A rally led by Kadam followed, with the number three hitting eight boundaries in an excellent 73. Joshua Bryen hung around for a while but there was little else of substance further down the order. Folkestone dug in to avoid a defeat, which was the only slight sour note for Lordswood, who deservedly wrapped up the title.

LOCAL CRICKET ROUND-UP

KENT LEAGUE DIVISION THREE

Minster 1st XI v Upchurch 1st XI

UPCHURCH struck potentially the decisive blow in Division Three's title race as they beat rivals Minster by 143 runs.

The visitors opted to bat first and were in some trouble at 81 for 5. Marc Bond (39) and Daniel Parker (72) stood up when they were needed to help Upchurch to 250.

Upchurch then dismissed Minster cheaply inside 29 overs. Bond (3 for 23) was the pick of the bowlers, but Parker and Michael Hales junior took two wickets apiece.

Victory took Upchurch 14 points clear, needing one win to secure promotion.

KENT LEAGUE DIVISION FOUR

Rainham 1st XI v Rodmersham 1st XI

A SUPERB performance from James Austin set Rainham up for an easy victory against Rodmersham.

The bowler took 6 for 38 as the visitors were skittled out for just 85 at Berengrove Park. Rodmersham were reduced to 1 for 2 and it barely got much better, with the extras column contributing the third highest score.

Rainham lost Matt Goodwin before they had a run on the board, but modest knocks from Callum Mitchell (24) and Austin (22 not out) proved decisive.

KENT FEEDER LEAGUE EAST 1A

Westgate-On-Sea 1st XI v Frindsbury 1st XI

AN EXCELLENT batting performance saw Westgate beat Frindsbury by eight wickets on Saturday.

Robert Sait top scored after Frindsbury were put into bat, making 51 before he became one of Richie Holden's four victims. Sam Budd's 41 helped the visitors pass 200 from their 46 overs.

Westgate's batsmen looked at ease in their reply, steadily reducing their target. Openers Neil Watford and Keith Sandwell got them off to a great start which Nick Sandwell and Steve Wood built on to secure victory.

KENT FEEDER LEAGUE EAST 1B

Sherwood 1st XI v Blue Bell Hill 1st XI

BLUE Bell Hill stayed on course for promotion after comfortably beating Sherwood by seven wickets.

Paul Brivio's decision to put Sherwood into bat first looked a good one as his bowlers made life difficult. The hosts' top score came from number eight Gary Andrews, whose 36 rescued them from a very low score.

Blue Bell Hill lost Ian Hayward and Michael Hanson cheaply, but Jack Attridge (66) and Tom Highest (47 not out) set up a straightforward victory with 17 overs to spare.

Chats' lack of confidence shows again

Picture: ADRIAN LINE

SET PIECE: Steve Hafner scored from long range distance

ALEX O'Brien was left frustrated after his side again struggled to impose themselves as they drew with Horsham on Saturday.

As with their opening day defeat against Godalming, the Chats started slowly and fell behind. Steve Hafner's 40-yard free kick got the Chats on level terms before the break, but despite dominating the second half they couldn't find a winner.

O'Brien said: "It's difficult when you see a side coming out and not performing or rolling up their sleeves and having a go. That's extremely frustrating because as a player that was my forte. All of a sudden we seem to have got a bit nervous and we can't knock them out of it at the moment."

The Chats visited early leaders Croydon Athletic last night, log on to Lordwood were well beaten on Saturday as they went down 4-0 at home to Erith Town. They will hope for better this weekend as they host Whitstable Town in an all Kent FA Cup preliminary round tie.

Mos boosted after Smith signs deal

INVICTA Dynamos return to training this week with coach Kevin Parrish already happy with the squad's fitness levels.

The club's league season gets underway at home to Oxford in a fortnight's time and most of the squad have attended optional sessions to prepare for the campaign. Full training began yesterday, but Parrish is pleased with the condition of his players, which is better than usual at this time of the year.

He said: "Everyone's looking good which is quite surprising because in August the fitness is not normally there. I think they've looked at how competitive the league is going to be this season and kept themselves in shape, so we've had some good high tempo sessions."

AJ Smith is the latest of last season's squad to commit to another season at the Gillingham Ice Bowl. Andy Smith is likely to follow suit next week and Parrish is promising a big signing before the season begins on September 6.

Stimson lays down the law after poor display

Dennis Oli's return was the one positive to take from the game. The forward's introduction, along with fellow substitute Mark McCammon, added impetus to a late fruitless search for an equaliser.

The defeat, which sent Gills down to 20th position in the early League One table, only served to emphasise the need to bring in reinforcements before the transfer window closes.

Stimson was hoping to tie up a permanent deal for Gowling before the Blackburn game. His search for a striker continues after finally giving up on Dagenham's Paul Benson, although reports the club had made a £140,00 bid were false.

The Gills boss said: "We did make an enquiry last week and asked how much it would take. Unfortunately it was way more than we can afford, a lot more than the amount reported."

FLAT: Mark Stimson (left) was unhappy with the performance, while Dennis Oli (right) returned from injury lead just before the break when James Brown headed over from close range. Despite being at 0-0, Stimson hauled off goalkeeper Alan Julian at half-time in favour of Simon Royce.

The watching scouts will have noted Simeon Jackson had precious little service. His one clear chance came on 56 minutes when he rounded goalkeeper Scott Flinders, but Hartlepool skipper Sam Collins cleared off the line.

The game was won by the sole moment of real quality in the entire game. Brown, who had tormented a hesitant Josh Gowling all afternoon, found some space before smashing a shot in off the crossbar from 20 yards.

GILLINGHAM manager Mark Stimson felt the prospect of last night's game with Blackburn Rovers had distracted the majority of his starting line-up in Saturday's lacklustre defeat to Hartlepool.

The Priestfield boss felt up to seven of his side delivered unacceptably below-par performances which sealed a third successive defeat.

Stimson was deeply unhappy with the display and was considering dropping several players for last night's Carling Cup tie against Sam Allardyce's Premier League side.

He said: "Players can think 'I don't want to get injured against Hartlepool so I miss Blackburn'. But they should know me and it doesn't work like that, if you don't perform against Hartlepool you won't play against Blackburn and now a few of them have tested me."

A sluggish start saw the Gills hand the initiative to the visitors, who should have taken the
